CRASH INJURIES FATAL TO MRS. ALMA THOMAS

Glen Iris-Forrest Road Collision Costs Life of Atlanta Woman; Rites Today.

Mrs. Alma Thomas, 39, of 1373 Lakewood drive, died at a private hospital Tuesday morning from injuries suffered Sunday night in an automobile wreck at Forrest road and Glen Iris drive.

Mrs. Thomas was riding in a car with L. E. McGuire, of 890 Greenwood avenue, and Miss Ethel Hague, of Jonesboro road, when it was in collision with the automobile of C. R. Scruggs, of 363 Parkway drive. Both drivers contended they were proceeding on green lights.

Severe cuts on the left arm and left leg resulted in Mrs. Thomas losing considerable blood before she was treated at the hospital. McGuire gave blood in a transfusion, but her injuries proved fatal. Miss Hague suffered a broken arm, and McGuire was bruised and shaken. Scruggs was not hurt. Cases of reckless driving were made against both drivers.

Funeral services for Mrs. Thomas will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the residence. The Rev. W. H. Major will officiate and interment will be in the New Hope churchyard, near Zebulon, Ga.

Surviving her are two sons, F. C. Thomas Jr. and James Ray Thomas; two brothers, Merrill and Roy Harris; a sister, Miss Gladys Harris, and her mother, Mrs. Emma Harris.

SCAVENGERS.

Before we leave the subject of home aquaria, it would be well to consider one more thing about the balancing of the tank for the welfare of its occupants. It is this matter of scavengers. There are many methods of keeping an aquarium clean, but none of them are as time-saving and grief-saving as the constant use of scavenging animals.

For this purpose a number of them have been placed on the market. The most effective ones, of course, are the snails. Not all snails, however, are good. Some are killed by fish, and only add to the shambles on the bottom of the tank. Others are more effective, and keep the tank sweet all the time.

A very satisfactory snail is the Japanese variety known as Viviparus malleatus. As the generic name indicates, these snails are live-bearers, and produce fully-developed young which are about the size of a hummingbird egg, or maybe a bit smaller. They are said to be exceptionally long-lived, and to make excellent tank-cleaners. They are large animals, growing to about an inch and a quarter in diameter.

You can take your choice, however, of the African or paper-shelled, the Japanese, the Ramshorn and the Australian snails, and have an effective battery of scavengers. They are expert in removing detritus and unused food from the tank, and in addition to this, help to control the algae, those microscopic plants that turn the water green, and which appear even in the best of tanks.

Certain other scavengers have been used with successful aquarists, and these would be my personal choice, for they are amphibians. However, it must be said that they are not such effective scavengers as the snails. Tadpoles of various sorts have been suggested, and the newts, known to the fish fanciers as "water lizards," are available almost anywhere, at a low price. Unfortunately, they are disturbing to the peace of the tank, and keep the bottom disturbed so that the water is never quite clear.

Let's stick to the snails. They are slow and plodding, but nevertheless effective.

Huey Calls Critic 'Thief'; Woman Rebukes Committee

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 28.—(AP)—It was Huey P. Long day before the senate committee investigating Senator John H. Overton's election. Stalking down the aisle with a swagger in his shoulders, Huey Long electrified the hearing by demanding to be heard in his own defense. He said he had three witnesses with him who would prove that Sam D. Hunter, who he charged was a "gas well thief from North Louisiana," had attacked him and not Senator Overton with "hearsay testimony and untruths."

Then Long himself took the stand and said he had the answers to any and all questions. For an hour he denied the Hunter testimony and covered a wide field of Louisiana politics. As he stepped from the stand, a small woman, with fire in her eyes, Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond, chairman of the women's committee of Louisiana, arose and rebuked the committee for permitting Senator Long to "make a stump speech for an hour."

Mrs. Crowe Cleared In Death of Dupree

Mrs. Anne Crowe was exonerated by the Fulton county grand jury Tuesday in connection with the fatal shooting of former Policeman R. D. Dupree on November 10 on Juniper street.

Mrs. Crowe's case was first considered by the grand jury last Tuesday but action was deferred awaiting the presentation of further evidence. Dupree was shot while seated in his car with Mrs. Crowe, who told police that he killed himself.

and demanded to know if "the United States senate was afraid of Huey Long."

Her remarks provoked a bedlam in the chamber, voices cheering, yelling and shouting "sit down," "go on." With an air of unconcern, Senator Long walked closely in front of her and between her and the rostrum, picked up his hat and walked out.

downed out in the noise, and the time for luncheon recess having arrived, Senator Elbert Thomas, democrat, Utah, who was presiding, recessed the hearing without comment.

Senator Long, who acted as Overton's counsel at the February sessions, had not been attending these hearings. He said he had heard over the radio that Sam Hunter had sworn that Huey Long had threatened to close his gas wells and send him to the penitentiary if he did not contribute $5,000 to the Overton campaign.

"I did not know Sam Hunter was alive during the senatorial campaign," he said. "The law does not provide even for a jail sentence for conservation violations. It provides for a fine and debarment from business within the state."

MOVIE SEEKS TO KEEP MRS. KEMP'S NAME OFF LIST BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 28.—(AP)—In a surprise move tonight, citizens opposed to the Long-Allen administration's method of naming Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp to the congress seat, previously held by her late husband, obtained a temporary order in the ## Child Tells of Killing Of Sheldon Clark Jr.

WOODBURY, N. J., Nov. 28.—(UP)—Six-year-old Sheldon Clark, III, was taken before the Gloucester county grand jury today to tell his version of the fatal shooting of his father, Sheldon Clark Jr., son of a wealthy Illinois oil man.

The child was one of two eye-witnesses when his mother, Mrs. Audrey Clark, former Broadway showgirl, allegedly shot her husband through the heart after he had struck her on the head with a billiard cue.

About a dozen other witnesses were examined before the jury today but Prosecutor Lynwood Lord said that if an indictment is returned, it will be impounded until Friday. He explained that no judge would be available before that time.

Mrs. Clark, who is 24, still is in a Woodbury hospital recovering from a scalp wound she claims she received when Clark struck her with the billiard cue in their Paulsboro home on November 21.

district court to prevent Secretary of State E. A. Conway from printing Mrs. Kemp's name on the official ballots.

The order was signed tonight by District Judge Carruth Jones and was made returnable on Monday. The effect of the order, its sponsors said, would be to stop the printing of the ballots until the case was argued in court, thus halting the special general election ordered for next Tuesday by Governor O. K. Allen, political protégé of Senator Huey P. Long.

Mrs. Kemp, widow of the late sixth district congressman, had the personal endorsement of Senator Long. Moving swiftly to clinch the nomination procedure, the state attorney-general's office today rendered a "legal and valid" ruling on the governor's proclamation ordering an election eight days hence and instructed the secretary of state to see that the name of Mrs. Kemp alone appeared on the special election ballot as the democratic nominee.

Gavel From Famous Oak Prized by Peek Family

Among prized possessions of the late Cicero A. Peek has been found a gavel presented to him by his brother, Will Peek, of Athens, made from wood of the famous Robert Toombs oak which stood in front of the chapel on the campus of the University of Georgia. Miss Marie Peek announced Tuesday.

Two other gavels which Will Peek had made from the same tree were presented to William H. Taft, then president, and to Judge Horace M. Holden, then associate justice of the Georgia supreme court. The oak was blown down during the year of Taft's visit to Athens.

Dr. Cox Labor Body's New Vice Chairman The regional labor board for the southeast was notified Tuesday by Senator Robert F. Wagner, chairman of the national labor board, that Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory University, has been named vice chairman of the southern board.

Marion Smith, Atlanta attorney, is chairman of the southern regional labor board and Dr. Cox has been added to the board to divide the chairmanship duties with him, George Ramaker, secretary of the board, said. The southern board has jurisdiction over labor disputes in Florida, Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Dr. Cox will preside at a hearing here Monday on the strike at the Rome, Ga., hosiery mills where 800 men have been out for ten days. Secretary Ramaker announced.

Parents Will Meet. Parents of children enrolled in the Spelman College Nursery school will meet with the staff at 7:30 o'clock tonight for a general discussion of the work of the school and individual conferences between parents and staff members. Twenty-four children ranging in age from 20 months to four years, are enrolled.

NAZIS QUIT POSTS IN GERMAN CHURCH

Bishop and Aid Take Government's Hint on Politics in Pulpit.

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The militant leader of the Nazi German Christians and a colleague resigned under pressure today from the German church cabinet, the governing body of Protestant groups.

The two, Bishop Joachim Hossfelder and Dr. Friedrich Werner, the cabinet's legal counselor, took the broad hint of the minister of the interior that their aggressive policy of dragging politics into the church and tolerating "flagrant heretics" threatened to wreck the evangelical church. Both have been accused of ousting Jews from Protestant church offices, condoning the recommendations of some Hitlerite German Christians that the Old Testament be eliminated and the new revised, and of creating Nazi-controlled authority.

Under Fire. Bishop Hossfelder particularly had been under fire for weeks as the Nazi churchmen and their more conservative opponents engaged in an increasingly heated controversy over Semitism, leadership, the suspension of dissident pastors, and suggested Scriptural and dogma changes. Simultaneously the announcement was made of the indefinite postponement of December 3 of the consecration of Dr. Ludwig Mueller as Reichsbishop. He also has been attacked by conservative churchmen, but it was thought he had no part in Bishop Hossfelder's resignation, for he considers himself bound by close ties of friendship and politics to the Nazi leader.

There was much speculation in Protestant circles whether Hossfelder would accept the situation or whether German Christians in north Germany and Thuringia would now secede—after threats of doing so—and form a religious body of their own.

Meiser Favored. Dr. Mueller was said to be inclined to fill the vacancies in his cabinet by the appointment of Bishop Hans Meiser, of Bavaria, to replace Bishop Simon Schoeffel, of Hamburg; the Rev. Carl Koca, of Westphalia, to supplant Hossfelder, and Dr. Herbert Conrad to the Reich ministry of the interior in place of Werner.

Bishop Schoeffel was recently forced to resign by Dr. Hossfelder. These suggested cabinet members are known as "positive Christians"—those who fully endorse Holy Writ in its entirety.

The choice of the three men would be acceptable to the faction of former Reichsbishop Friedrich Von Bodelschwingh, leader of the opposition to Hossfelder.

PLANS ABANDONED FOR JOINT PRISON

Possibility of Delay Causes City, County To Decide Against Proposal

As Atlanta and Fulton county officials Tuesday abandoned plans for erection of a joint criminal administration building, they began a program to push plans for separate jails with a prospect that the city's building will be located on its present site and the Fulton tower will be remodeled and modernized within the next few months.

Atlanta will proceed with the $346,000 grant made by PWA for a separate jail and Fulton county will continue its plans for $225,000 with which to remodel and modernize the tower.

The definite decision to abandon joint plans was made at a joint meeting of Fulton county commissioners and administration leaders held at the city hall.

Every member of the commission, every municipal official and every citizen who spoke favored the joint project because of its economy and advantage, but when the matter of delay in prosecution of the improvements was brought up, it presented what was believed to be an insurmountable obstacle in the limited time left for procurement of federal loans.

Among those who urged the joint structure were Mayor James L. Key, Clark Howell, Major John S. Cohen, Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, George F. Longino.

Hal Heinz, architect on the county remodeling project, and Preston S. Stevens, of Burge & Stevens, architects on the city jail, warned of delays and quoted price figures which precluded construction of a building adequate to take care of both city and county needs for the $571,000. This sum would have been available if the county gets its $225,000 and added it to the $346,000 fund obtained by the municipality.

Emmett Quinn, Alderman Frank H. Reynolds and Hugh C. Couch also were among those who participated in the discussions.

Gilliam, while supporting the consolidation idea, warned that any change now might result in the loss of the city fund because of lack of time to push the joint program through the PWA.

Lindbergh "Confessor" Will Be Tried Here

A pretty tale, if it were true—but it is not.

So said Atlanta police Tuesday after investigating the "confession" of Harry Zieger, 19, of New York, that he was "in the know" on the kidnapping of little Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., in that he saw the child two weeks ago at an address in Montreal, Canada, alive and well.

Assistant Chief of Police A. Lamer Poole termed the story a hoax, and said that Zieger will be carried before the police court to "see if we can't cure him of telling such stories." Zieger related his "confession" to Patrolman J. H. Smith at Grady hospital after being brought in for treatment.

DINKLER TAKES OVER NEW ORLEANS HOTEL

The famous St. Charles hotel in New Orleans will come under the direction and management of the Dinkler Hotels Company, with headquarters at the Ansley hotel in Atlanta, on Friday, Carling Dinkler, president of the company, announced Tuesday in New Orleans.

The Dinkler company thus becomes the largest hotel operating company in the south, the addition of the St. Charles bringing the total number of hotel rooms in the system up to 2,000, it was said.

CARLING DINKLER.

Captain J. Mike O'Leary, of Birmingham, will become manager of the St. Charles, Mr. Dinkler announced. Henry C. Heinz, treasurer of the company, said that the St. Charles is rich in history and the traditions of New Orleans, and that the building, begun at a time of elegant living, has retained the traditions through many changes of building in modernizing the structure.

On the walls of the St. Charles are many art treasures gathered through the years, one of the most interesting being an oil painting by Rembrandt and a tapestry by the Ursuline sisters of a century ago. Under the new management, traditions will be preserved, but equipment and policies will be modernized, Mr. Heinz said.

Highway Department Slashes Its Expenses

The state highway department has effected material reductions in overhead expenses during the three months the appointees of Governor Talbot have been on the highway board. Judge Max L. McRae, one of the members, announced Tuesday.

Judge McRae made public a table showing that the overhead expenses of operating the department totaled $46,950 during August, September and October of this year as compared with expenses of $104,710 during the same three months last year.

The table showed that $21,528 was expended in August, 1933, as compared with $36,241 in the same month of last year. $24,459 in September, 1933, as compared with $32,768 in September, 1932, and $20,962 in October, 1933, as compared with $35,692 in October, 1932.

The board member said that the majority of the reduction was made in salaries of personnel, but that all other items of office expense were lowered as well.

RAIL CONDUCTOR SUES FOR SALARY DURING PEN TERM

Hearing of testimony will be resumed Monday in the case of James T. Reese, who is suing the Atlanta & West Point Railroad Company for back salary as a conductor on the road's lines, which he alleges has accrued during his recent incarceration in the federal prison on a charge of violation of the narcotic laws. He received a sentence of four years. The case is being heard before Judge E. E. Pomeroy in superior court.

Reese is asking for $280 per month from the time of his arrest in June, 1928, until April of this year, and for an additional $5,000 for the loss of his seniority with the railroad.

Reese contends that he was never discharged from service and sues under his contract with the railroad, which, he claims, was not invalidated by any act involving "moral turpitude." Reese is represented by Hooper Alexander, Howell, Heyman & Bolding are attorneys for the railroad.

FRED W. ALLARD DIES; POWER CO. VETERAN

Fred W. Allard, 66, an employee of the Georgia Power Company in the roadway department of the street railway since 1914, died Tuesday morning in a private hospital. He resided on Mildred place, on the river car line.

Funeral services for Mr. Allard will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the chapel of Awtrey & Lowndes. The Rev. Frank E. Jenkins will officiate and interment will be in West View cemetery, with Fulton Lodge No. 416, F. & A. M., officiating at the grave.

Mr. Allard was born July 9, 1869. He came to Atlanta in 1900 as assistant superintendent of construction of the Atlanta Rapid Transit Company after a period of service with the General Electric Company. He went to Birmingham in 1902 to a connection with the Birmingham Electric Company, and returned to the city in 1914.

Surviving Mr. Allard are his wife, Mrs. Anne Sisk Allard, and a brother, Frank Allard, of Los Angeles.

Accidentally Killed.
VICKSBURG, Miss., Nov. 28.—(P) Rufus Powers, employed in the city street cleaning department, today accidentally shot and killed himself at his home while cleaning his .38 caliber pistol.

EX-SAILOR'S PLEA UP TO PRESIDENT

Roosevelt, Who Saved
Menefee in 1918, Again
Holds Prisoner's Fate.

President Roosevelt is considering an application for executive clemency filed in behalf of Gus Menefee, a former sailor, who was saved from execution by Mr. Roosevelt when he was acting secretary of the navy in 1918, it was learned Tuesday.

Menefee, who was tried and convicted of the murder of a fellow seaman aboard the destroyer Fanning, off the coast of France, served 14 years in the federal penitentiary but was released last year when Judge E. Marvin Underwood, of the federal district court of north Georgia, granted his application for a writ of habeas corpus. The circuit court of appeals has reversed Judge Underwood and unless the president extends clemency Menefee must return to prison in a few days. The former sailor is in Atlanta awaiting the outcome of his application.

At the time of the hearing before Judge Underwood last year, it was brought out that Mr. Roosevelt, in 1918, commuted the death sentence of Menefee to life imprisonment without authority, the president being the only federal official authorized to extend such clemency.

Hugh Howell, Atlanta lawyer, admitted Tuesday that he had forwarded papers in Menefee's case to Warm Springs for the president's attention. The president and Mr. Howell discussed the case en route from Savannah to Warm Springs 10 days ago, and the chief executive at that time instructed Mr. Howell to draw up the necessary papers and send them to him.

It was learned that President Roosevelt asked both President Coolidge and President Hoover to extend the clemency to Menefee while the former sailor was in prison here, but both of his predecessors refused to act on the case as the navy department recommended adversely on it.

More Clouds, Warmer Forecast for Today

Increasing cloudiness and warmer weather today were predicted Tuesday by the weather bureau. The day's range in temperature is expected to be between 44 and 62 degrees.

Tuesday's temperature showed a sharp variation. Due to smoke clouds the thermometer at the bureau registered a minimum of 41 degrees, but at the airport it was 34 degrees and at outlying places 29. Frost formed where the temperature was low. The maximum during the day was 65, with no rain.

Occasional rains are expected Thursday, but none today. Heavy snow, in some instances 19 inches deep, was reported Tuesday along the Canadian border.

On Chicago Program.

President Samuel H. Archer, of Morehouse College will speak at a mass meeting at the Olivet Baptist church, Thirty-first street and South Parkway, Chicago, next Monday evening. On the program will be Congressman de Priest and George R. Arthur, of the Julius Rosenwald fund.

North Avenue Church To Have Home-Coming

Unique, informal Thanksgiving service will be held by members of North Avenue Presbyterian church in the form of a home-coming morning at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, on the anniversary of the first Thanksgiving Day service held in the new building 33 years ago.

The meeting Thursday morning will be thoroughly informal and will be open for all who will take part. It was announced. The hour will be spent in testimony, song and prayer, and, according to those who have attended previous such meetings, an interesting time is assured because of the frankness of the testimonials and the informality of the meeting. The session will close promptly at 11:30.

Atlanta Budget Board Resumes Work Today

The task of working out a program to reconcile 1934 expenditures with anticipated revenue will face the Atlanta budget commission when it resumes its deliberations this morning. About $500,000 must be absorbed.

City collections of delinquent accounts Tuesday were listed at $250,866 more for the first ten months of this year than for the same period last, and Mayor James L. Key, chairman of the budget commission, praised Riley Elder, collector of municipal revenue. A drive to put tax delinquents on city books also will be undertaken next year.

Elder's collections for the first ten months of this year as compared to the same period of 1932 follow: Delinquent ad valorem taxes, 1933, $1,126,235.04; 1932, $912,558.25; delinquent business licenses, 1933, $55,074.56; 1932, $36,020.22; interest on past due taxes, 1933, $70,507.93; 1932, $41,101.91. Total, 1933, $1,310,007.74; 1932, $1,059,141.50.

2 Negroes Jailed.

Found hiding in an apartment at 13 Peachtree place, two negroes were held Tuesday by police on "suspicion" pending investigation of their presence in the vacant room. The men, giving the names of George Hardy, 26, of the rear of 972 Juniper and Robert York, 26, of 897 Chestnut, were discovered in the apartment by a milkman, it was said. They told officers they went in the apartment to get out of the cold.

KNEE-ACTION WHEELS

jar and bump and bounce abolished

MARKING its 25th Anniversary, General Motors pioneers another great advance in motoring comfort—the abolition of jar and bump and bounce.

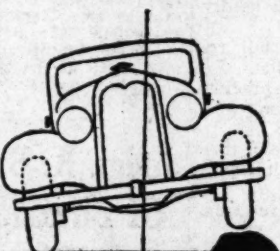

After more than two years of engineering research and after thousands of miles of testing on the Proving Ground, a radically new method has been worked out for joining the front wheels of the automobile to the chassis. The effect is to make it possible for each wheel to step over a bump or a hole so that the wheel instead of the passenger takes the jar. We have called this "giving the car Knee-Action Wheels."

This is no minor improvement over the cars of 1933, but a revolutionary change in automobile design, worthy to rank with the introduction of the self-starter by Cadillac in 1912, the adoption of Four-Wheel Brakes by Buick in 1924, and the abolition of drafts by Fisher in 1933. Go as soon as you can and drive a 1934 Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Buick, La Salle or Cadillac.

To attempt to describe the difference in comfort, especially on the back seat, is impossible. Steering is effortless; safety is much enhanced; the life of the car lengthened. Just the right amount of ventilation reaches you through the controlled no-draft ventilation of Fisher; just the speed that suits you rolls silently beneath your wheels. The ups and downs are so nearly banished by the Knee-Action Wheels that your movement is not a ride—it's a glide.

HOW KNEE-ACTION WHEELS WORK

Your present car is stiff-legged. Stiff front springs are rigidly joined by an I-beam front axle. So when you hit a bump the front of the car bounces, the rear pitches, and you are jarred.

See how serenely a man meets a bump. One knee bends easily, lifting its leg. The other leg is not affected; equilibrium is undisturbed. The knee, not the body, takes the jar.

Now, 1934 — no more I-beam axle, no stiff springs. The wheel, flexibly mounted on its own soft spring, rises and falls like a knee to soak up the shocks, while the car glides on.

Reviewing the Shows

Colbert at Capitol

Now in 'Torch Singer'
"Torch Singer," with Claudette Colbert, Ricardo Cortez and other well-known and popular players, comes to the Capitol theater today for a three-day return engagement. This picture scored large success when first shown at the Fox and was then acclaimed as the best piece of work yet achieved by the beautiful Colbert.

It tells the story of a woman who leads a double life, known to the public as the "worst woman on Broadway" in her role as a cabaret singer, but also giving nightly radio talks to little children under the pseudonym of "Aunt Sally." The way in which she uses these radio talks to search for her own little girl, lost, adds poignancy to a picture that also contains all the snappy songs and alluring love interest anyone desires.

Suitable short subjects complete the new Capitol bill.

DECISION IS RESERVED

IN VALLEE MARITAL RIFT

New York, Nov. 28.—(P)—Decision on a motion to restrain Rudy Vallee from going outside the country, presumably to Mexico, to sue for a divorce from Fay Webb, his estranged wife, was reserved today by Supreme Court Justice Isidor J. Wasservogel. When the court inquired whether such a restriction was necessary, since a divorce obtained without the wife being represented would not be legal here, Benjamin A. Hartstein, attorney for Mrs. Vallee, said such a divorce might impair his client's rights under a separation agreement.

'Hell and High Water'

Showing at Georgia

Richard Arlen, Judith Allen, Sir Guy Standing, Charley Grapewin, Matsui, the Japanese actor, and William Frawley compose the cast of Paramount's "Hell and High Water," the first-run feature which opens a three-day engagement at the Georgia theater today. Added units on the program include a Clark and McCullough comedy, "Kicking the Crown Around," a cartoon, "Bean Stalk Jack," and a new issue of Paramount sound news.

Grover Jones and William Slavens McNutt, who have been acting as a writing team for several years, were elevated to producers and directors on "Hell and High Water." They also wrote their own script from the original story by Max Miller, San Diego reporter, who authored "I Cover the Waterfront."

Captain Jericho and Sally Briggs might never have met if they hadn't hated the opposite sex so. Jericho absolutely knew that women were poison, and Sally's colorful life around the docks hadn't softened her heart toward men in the least.

When she dove into the bay that night it was for suicide purposes but she landed right in the middle of Jericho's fishing net and thereby started a romance that resounded through the waterfront like a bombshell.

Richard Dix and a special cast will be seen in the first-run picture, "Ace of Aces," a war-time aviation story, which comes to the Georgia on Saturday.

PHONE INJUNCTION HEARING ORDERED FOR DECEMBER 11

were in 1918 when the cost of the telephone in the governor's office was $5 a month," the governor said. "Even then other things were far higher than they are today. The people cannot afford to pay high telephone rates and the state cannot either."

Adams Backs Governor.

Commissioner of Agriculture G. C. Adams, in Tallahassee, Fla., Tuesday night said that he would order out all telephones in his department if the governor believed that such action is in the best interests of the entire state.

Fred T. Bridges, assistant to Mr. Adams, said the commissioner following a long distance telephone talk with him.

Mr. Adams was quoted by Mr. Bridges as saying that he had installed the first rural telephone line in the nation, but that many farmers could not afford phones and that he would abide with the wishes of Tallahassee.

Although no total of the state's telephone costs has been made for the year, it was said Tuesday that the bills average about $8,000 a month, including local and long distance service in all departments, institutions and agencies. All of the state institutions from one end of the state to the other are equipped with telephones.

A number of them maintaining their own private PEX systems.

Meanwhile Attorney-General M. J. Yeomans and his assistants were busy preparing the state's answer to the telephone companies in the action, which was filed Tuesday.

It was not expected that the answer would be ready much in advance of the hearing Thursday. The department of law being assisted in preparing the answer by Hugh Howell, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, and others.

Power Rate Adjourned.

Chairman J. P. Williot Tuesday morning adjourned until Friday the Georgia public service commission's investigation into electric power rates which had been set for progress for 10 days and later announced that because of the unforeseen delays in the power inquiry the scheduled inquiry into rates and commodities freight rates which had been set for December 4, had been postponed until December 11.

Two more independent telephone companies Tuesday joined the ten companies which on Monday asked the federal court to halt the 25 per cent rate reduction ordered by the public service commission. The new companies joining in the action were the Georgia Continental Telephone Company, which serves a number of cities in northeast and southwest Georgia, and the Thomasville Telephone Company, which serves Thomasville and vicinity. Like the companies which filed their petitions Monday these companies charge that the 25 per cent reduction constituted confiscation of their property in violation of the 14th amendment to the federal constitution.

AL SMITH DENIES LINK WITH MORGAN

Smith's statement. "I find no fault with Father Coughlin which he disagrees with my views on sound money. That is his right. I insist on the right of free speech for myself and I want the last word in the world to attempt to deny it to anyone else."

Honest Differences.

"The country's monetary policy is a subject on which there may be honest differences of opinion, as may be seen from the statement of economists and statesmen on both sides of the question, but I do very deeply resent any statement about me made by Father Coughlin which is a slur and the charge that my position on the monetary question was in any way affected by any loans by J. P. Morgan was absolutely false."

"So, too, the suggestion that I borrowed money from the house of J. P. Morgan, or anyone connected with it, to progress the construction of the Empire State building or for any corporation in which I am connected is absolutely false."

"When Father Coughlin insinuates to his vast radio audience that I even spoke to Mr. Morgan or anyone connected with him about this or any other financial transaction, he is stating what is absolutely false."

The priest is assailed.

Mgr. Thomas G. Carroll, chancellor of the Catholic archdiocese of New York, said the priest's attack on former Governor Smith was "absolutely unwarranted."

While the comment of Monsignor Carroll did not encompass such a possibility, it was indicated at the chancery office that Father Coughlin might not receive permission in the future to speak in this diocese.

"Father Coughlin ought to remember," Monsignor Carroll said, "that as a clergyman he has a rather privileged position, which is accorded him by his position whether he accepts it or not, and that forum is not the place in which to attribute selfish notions to anybody."

The priest boarded a train for Detroit before the Smith statement was made public. He made no reply to the chancellor's remarks except to say:

"I refuse to come into his diocese and start a quarrel. There are certain properties of gentlemanliness and etiquette among clergymen which forbid such a discussion."

Father Coughlin said he had neither talked with a bishop, nor visited any officials of the diocese today.

"I came here with this knowledge," he added, pointing out that J. E. Rand Jr., industrialist and one of the members of the committee for the nation, had informed the chancery office of his visit to address last night's mass meeting in the Hippodrome at which the name of Smith was booed frequently.

Former Atlanta Newspaperman Tells of Escape From Maryland Mob

Eddie Gilmore of the Washington Daily News staff was one of the reporters driven from Salisbury, Md., this afternoon by a mob bent on revenge for the arrest of four citizens on mob charges. Gilmore is a former Atlanta newspaperman and theater executive. His story of the eastern shore rebellion against state troops follows:

By EDDIE GILMORE.
(Written for the United Press.)
(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(UP)—I now know what it feels like to have a mob get after you.

I have just returned from Salisbury, Md., after a gang of about 500 angry men stormed the Wisconsin hotel there, demanding that the manager turn over to them seven newspapermen and photographers, who had stayed behind to send news stories to their papers.

After the infuriated mob members finally forced armed soldiers to leave Salisbury in a hail of curses and brickbats, they turned on us. I was just finishing my story over the telephone when the hotel manager stuck his head into the booth.

"Get out quick!" he said. "They're coming after you fellows." I slipped out of the booth and went into the manager's office. About that time a group of men rushed up to the desk.

"We want those newspapermen," one of the mob demanded.

"They are not here—they've gone," the manager stammered.

"We don't believe it," said the mob leader, "and we're coming back."

I held my breath. It seemed like about five minutes.

"Finally the manager tugged at my coat."

"Get upstairs to 318 in a hurry," he said.

I ran for all I was worth.

Inside the room I found Bill Peake, reporter for the Washington Herald; Fred Cole, Washington News photographer; Gaines Sloan, of the Washington Post; Jack Wilcox, of the Philadelphia Bulletin, and a couple more I didn't know. One was a Philadelphia photographer. His face was beaten.

"Keep away from the window," one of the boys whispered.

Outside, three floors below, you could hear the mob yelling for us.

"We want those newspaper guys," they shouted.

We looked at one another and smiled—most of a sickly smile.

"The troops have gone," Bill Peake said.

"And the state police, too," someone else said.

"Then it's just us," said a photographer.

All the time the shouting outside was getting louder. We presumed the mob was increasing in number, but we didn't dare look.

"Burn their cars," we hear them yell.

Things were getting pretty bad.

"I'm going to call Governor Ritchie," I said. "That gang will get in here soon."

I picked up the phone.

"Long distance," I asked.

"I'm sorry," said the hotel operator, "we can't connect you outside."

"Anyhow," she whispered, "some of the mob are at telephone headquarters. They'll hear you."

I hung up.

"We've got to do something," said Monk.

About that time a bell boy knocked at the door.

"Boys," he said, "you all had better get in another room. I think them folks done seen you in here."

Part of us went across the hall. The other bunch went farther down the hall. Then we waited.

Outside we could hear them chopping something. Fred Cole peeped out.

"They're chopping up and burning their cars," he said.

SOUTHERN WOMEN PROTEST TO ROLPH

Telegram From Association for Prevention of Lynching Sent Governor

Public approval by Governor Rolph of California, of the lynching of the Brooke Hart kidnappers constitutes "a sinister menace to all forces of law and order throughout the country," and his action is "one of national concern," Mrs. Jessie Daniel Ames, executive director of the Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching, Tuesday wired to Governor Rolph on behalf of the association.

Mrs. Ames, writing the telegram under the authorization of 15,000 women of the 13 southern states who have signed resolutions condemning lynching, told Governor Rolph that the association condemns lynching for any cause, and deprecates "your astounding attitude." She said that "we are grateful that no southern governor today is by jury regardless of public or private protector of lynchers."

The wire was sent after she conferred with Mrs. Julian Harris, a member of the association, and over long distance with Mrs. Alwood Martin, of Louisville, Ky., chairman.

Mrs. Ames said, "The association, she pointed out, in the belief that the record of lynchings in the south has come about because public opinion has accepted the statement of lynchers and mob leaders that they were acting solely in defense of womanhood."

"The Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching, numbering thousands, condemn lynching for any cause, and protect white women working for a public conscience which will insure all persons the constitutional guarantee of the right to life, liberty and property. We deplore your astounding attitude. The south is still charged with brutal lawlessness because officers some time fail to protect prisoners against mobs but we are grateful that no southern governor today has made himself a public defender under pretense of law."

leaked out and but four of the nine could be found.

These were brought to Salisbury and placed under special guard in the armory while the troops made additional plans to try to seize the others and prepared to take the prisoners to Princess Anne for a preliminary hearing.

Mob Converges.

The latter plans were rudely interrupted about mid-morning when the roads leading from nearby counties on the eastern shore, Delaware and Virginia brought vehicle after vehicle loaded with angry mobs.

They gathered around the armory. As they gradually pushed to the doorways, the officers ordered them to disperse.

"Get back," Reckord called. "We don't want to hurt you."

"What right have you got to come here and rule our streets?" a middle-aged man shouted.

The crowd continued to come forward and the soldiers responded by cutting loose a barrage of tear gas.

The crowd fell back momentarily, but again advanced. This necessitated another barrage and this time the crowd stayed back. The soldiers maintained their vigil with drawn bayonets.

In Annapolis Governor Ritchie, who has been ill, was informed of the plight of the soldiers. He talked to General Reckord by telephone and was informed that the situation was "well in hand."

Move Out Slowly.

At noon, the movement away from the armory was begun and the soldiers and state patrolmen, who had accompanied them, bunched the four prisoners in the buses waiting for them and moved slowly out of Salisbury.

The crowd then began to search for Attorney-General Lane and as he left, the windows of the automobile in which he was riding were broken.

Another automobile, mistakenly believed to be Lane's, was overturned. The occupant, who remained unidentified, protested he was not Lane as he crawled out.

Two other automobiles were overturned and one of them caught fire.

Then the crowd moved to the nearby hotel and demolished of the management that newspaper reporters be brought out. Most of the reporters were sent out by a side entrance, but several remained until late in the afternoon when Secretary of State David C. Winebrenner III, sent an automobile for them.

involved. After the first burst of tear gas, the firemen turned their hose on the soldiers. The fire chief rushed to the armory to explain that he was not responsible but that he would try to stop the trouble.

"You'd better," one of the officers said, "or we will."

Firemen explained later that they were attempting to keep the gas fumes from entering the fire house, which was across the street from the armory.

The crowd cheered the firemen, however, and also cheered firemen from neighboring towns who arrived during the demonstration.

As the soldiers made their way back to Baltimore, many of them soaked wet and some ill from their own tear gas, they took advantage of the ride to catch up on their sleep. They had no rest during the night.

The Princess Anne lynching occurred on the night of October 18 after the negro, Armwood, was accused of assaulting Mrs. Mary Deunston, an aged farm woman, of Somerset county.

Taken Back.

Arrested on the 16th, he was brought to Baltimore for safe keeping after a mob began a search for him. He was taken back to Princess Anne two days later in custody of 20 state policemen.

On the night of the 18th, the mob formed rapidly. Tear gas bombs failed to repel them and they gradually closed in on the jail. They pushed inside the jail, tore down the doors and dragged Armwood outside.

He was tied by a rope to an automobile and when he fell he was dragged to the streets. His body was hanged to a tree and set afire.

An investigation was begun, but none of the witnesses called before the coroner's jury was able to recall the names of any of the lynchers.

Lane then began an independent investigation which resulted in finding nine alleged members of the mob.

When Robins refused to order the arrests asked for, Lane and Ritchie, together with several other officials, held a secret meeting Sunday night and decided to send troops.

The state officials insisted, however, the troops did not mean that they were to be sent to the county.

Those arrested by the officers in their early morning trips into Somerset county were:

Irving Adkins, 30, a Saturday night officer at Princess Anne.

William H. Thompson, 33, a Princess Anne druggist, who had been a member of the coroner's jury conducting the investigation.

William P. Hearn, of Shad Point, a trucker.

William S. McQuay, of Pocomoke City, a chain store operator.

Another of the alleged lynchers was sought on a government coast guard vessel and his arrest was expected at an early date.

Attorney-General Lane tonight intimated that he would order the four held until habeas corpus proceedings were brought to get them out.

"At a habeas corpus hearing," he said, "you can bring out all the evidence that you can at a magistrate's hearing—and the thing we have wanted all along is to get the evidence before the public."

In the meantime, as Lane was making his statement, a movement was started in Princess Anne to free two of the four held. Writs of habeas corpus for William H. Thompson and Irving Adkins were issued and signed by Judge Robert F. Duer.

Sheriff Robert Daugherty left immediately for Baltimore with the writs.

Governor Ritchie cited the law of his state in defense of his action in sending national guardsmen.

"The general law," Governor Ritchie said, "authorizes the governor to call upon the commander of the national guard if his assistance is needed, to enforce the law and under such circumstances the commanding officer has the powers of a sheriff. It was under this provision that I acted."

MD. LYNCH COMMUNITY WANTS ROLPH FOR PRESIDENT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 28.—(UP)—Governor James Rolph, Jr., who condoned the lynchings of Thomas Thurmond and Jack Holmes, reiterated today that he is glad he did not call out the national guard.

At the same time Rolph exhibited a telegram he received from the "citizens of Princess Anne, Md." where a lynching last month resulted in mob disturbances today.

"Congratulations on your stand regarding the lynching in your state," the message said. "When you run for president you will have 100 per cent support from eastern shore of Maryland."

The governor declined to comment on the Maryland disorders.

"See the difference over this state," he said. "Nobody was shot. No troops were to mow down the citizens. If troops had been sent, just imagine what might have happened. As it is, nobody was hurt, the job has been done, and a peaceful community has gone back to work."

Rumors of Duke Injuries Fail To Impress Tech Players

GEORGIA PLANS AERIAL ATTACK FOR TROJANS

Injured Bulldogs Reported Doing Fine; Teams Work at Tucson.

By Ralph McGill.

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 28.—Georgia's football legends, working on the wind-swept field of the University of Arizona with the high peaked mountain ranges of the Arizona desert as background, set immediately about the business of throwing passes this afternoon.

Ted Twomey reported the power of the Southern California team to be as great as it has ever been, and Ted Twomey, the Georgia line coach, played against them when he was at Notre Dame and Stanford. He saw the Trojans beat his old team easily and with a most impressive display of power.

"They are all large and powerful," said Ted. "The smallest, with the exception of Cotton Warburton, the 150-pound speedster, is about the size of Coach Stegeman." (For the benefit of those not familiar with Mr. Stegeman's size it should be said that he weighs 220 pounds and is six feet and some inches tall.)

MANY RESERVES.

Southern California possesses a large supply of reserves. And therein lies the reason for them being the favorite to win from Georgia on Saturday in the big coliseum at Los Angeles.

Georgia is lacking in reserves. And so this afternoon the Bulldogs began tossing the football. They have done that with some success all fall. They did it to beat Georgia Tech. And Saturday they will try to score with the pass. That, with the alternate efforts to "shake loose" Homer Key and Cy Grant, will be the attack thrown at the Trojan power.

The Bulldogs saw the Trojans play in a dummy scrimmage and later in a few plays of actual contact. And they were, of course, rather confusing. But the Bulldogs have not admitted they can't win the game. They are working hard and with the same spirit that characterized their play all fall.

The injured men are all rounding into shape again. Grant's knee seems to be improving fast. And he is to put him into the game in first-class condition.

Leroy Moorehead, guard, is also recovering from a shoulder injury.

SCRIMMAGE TODAY.

Homer Key, who isn't hurt but merely tired out and worn with his rather arduous play this fall, is expected to be sparkling again when he enters the game on Saturday.

A heavier scrimmage is set for Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. On Thursday afternoon the team will see the University of Arizona team play Whittier.

Four of the Georgia seniors have been invited to play in the charity game at Knoxville, between teams representing the two conferences. They are, Captain Graham Batchelor, Homer Key, Sam Brown and Bull Cooper. It will be left to them to decide whether they will accept. Harry Mehre has been asked to help coach the Southeastern conference team but will not be able to do so.

The team was shown pictures of the 1932 Notre Dame-Southern California game this morning.

The party did not reach Tucson until late in the morning because of a train delay in El Paso. The main party of supporters went on to Los Angeles. They included Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Porter, Mrs. Rex Enright, Mrs. Harry Mehre and Mrs. H. J. Stegeman. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kaliska stopped off with the team.

The team will leave for Pasadena Thursday afternoon at 6 o'clock. Headquarters there will be at the Huntington hotel. At the time the team is quartered at the Pioneer hotel.

G. M. A. LEAVES TODAY FOR GAME

G. M. A.'s football team will leave the city tonight for Macon, Ga., to play Lanier High Thursday afternoon in the first of two games on successive days. It is the only time in the history of southern prep football that a team has played two games in as many days.

Friday the Cadets play Warm Springs High in Warm Springs, with President Roosevelt and his aids as guests of honor.

Lanier is undefeated and ranked one of the best eleven in southern prep football. They play Tech High December 9 for the state title.

G. M. A. coaches are seeking a defense that will hold Lanier's score down as low as possible.

Tennessee Quintet Slates 12 Contests

January 13—Kentucky, here.
January 16—Alabama, at Tuscaloosa.
January 20—Emory and Henry, here.

They're Brothers But Not on Grid

Brotherly love does not always influence the football player. Witness the Boulware brothers, who played football at Georgia Military Academy.

Burt Boulware, a star end at G. M. A., went to Georgia Tech. He has a brother, W. O. Boulware, who plays end for the University of Georgia freshmen.

They will meet on opposite sides in the charity game between Tech and Georgia freshman at Grant field Thursday.

BREAK O' DAY!

By Ralph McGill.

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 28.—At the University of Arizona stadium this afternoon as the Georgia football team began its first real practice for the Saturday contest with the Southern California Trojans at Los Angeles, there was a Papago Indian brave standing by with a faint smile on his face.

This Papago brave, whose forbears helped the white man subdue the Apache in this section, has left the reservation which lies some dozen miles out toward the old St. Xavier mission. He was clad in the usual Indian costume of today. That is to say a collegiate looking $40 suit, tan shoes, a neat tie and a gay shirt.

He was smiling at a sign which announced that there would be a polo game on Thursday morning between the University of Arizona team and the team from Stanford. And ever and anon he would shake his head and smile that faint smile. It was enigmatic and subtle. It aroused interest. It stimulated curiosity.

"You foreigners," he said, "are very peculiar people."

"Foreigners?" said I. "This is my country. It is still the land of the Papago nation. But that is all right. You foreigners are very peculiar people."

IN THE BEGINNING.

"In the first place," he said, "the grand seal of the university is all wrong. It is a travesty on justice. It is a rank bit of ingratitude. And now they play polo and hide the past with a Latin phrase."

The Papago brave smiled again that enigmatic smile. "What is wrong with the Latin motto of the university?" asked this correspondent. "It is like all other college mottos and Alma Mater songs. They are all alike, even as to the tunes."

"Well," said the Papago brave, flicking a bit of dust from one of his tan shoes, "the grand seal of the university is all wrong. It should have a roulette wheel in one corner, a poker hand in the other and below that crossed croupier sticks."

"Why, that is perfectly shocking," said the visiting correspondents to the Papago brave who is taking his master's degree this winter.

"It is not," said the native American. "It is not shocking at all. And it proves you do not know history."

SWEETNESS AND LIGHT.

It seems that the Papago brave was correct. When sweetness and light came to the state of Arizona in the form of a state university appropriation by the legislature in 1877 it was greeted with jeers. Because the state university rated a bad last in the minds of the citizens of the Pueblo of Tucson who did not desire a university very much.

In fact, the committee which went to the legislature at Prescott was first of all to try and have the capital moved back to Tucson.

The next in order, failing in the matter of the capital, was to have the state prison moved over from Yuma. And if that proved beyond the committee's power then a fine insane asylum was most desired.

But the committee spent all its money in a vain effort to regain the capital and came home with nothing but the university.

The Papago brave reviewed all this history. And then he went back to the grand seal.

"You see," he said, "when the committee returned with a state university instead of a prison or an insane asylum, the outraged citizens would not aid the project."

"The legislative appropriation was dependent on a grant of 40 acres of land for the site of the university. The people would not give them any land. It was not until 1886, when the money was about to be lost, that some of the public spirited citizens of the town got together."

"They were three of the leading gamblers of Tucson, the old square gamblers and the best citizens of their day. They bought the land and gave it to the state for a university. Thus did sweetness and light come to Arizona and the university has been there ever since," said the young brave.

"So you see," said the Papago citizen, "that is why I say the grand seal and the motto is all wrong. It proves once more that ingratitude of man."

And so saying he climbed into his roadster and drove away.

"I will see you at the polo game Thursday morning," he said.

The football practice seemed a little quiet after the young Papago chief was gone. And later I checked him up in a history. He had the right dope about the land.

PRACTICES PLANNED.

Practices are planned for Friday morning and Saturday morning, should the squad remain over that long.

Lanier High defeated Tech High, 7 to 6, at Atlanta and then won from Boys High and Miami by two touchdown margins, Tech High therefore will be the underdog in both of its remaining games.

There was some indication Tuesday night of a starting lineup for Tech High and it will depend on Thursday's workout before the starters are named.

All through the special Smithie car the cry of Joe was heard. And when someone called out to Joe, there was a chorus of answers.

Investigation revealed that four Jones are in the Tech High line. They are Smokey Joe Holcombe, Joe McKinnon, Coach Brown, guards and Joe Orr, at tackle.

DECATUR PLAYS GRIFFIN TONIGHT

GRIFFIN, Ga., Nov. 28.—Griffin High will close one of its most successful seasons here Wednesday night with Decatur High, a bitter North Georgia Interscholastic Conference rivalry, as the opponent.

A tie for second place in the N. G. I. C. will be the reward for victory.

Decatur's four-year winning streak in the conference was broken with a 10-0 victory from Griffin, who has lost only to Gainesville in the conference.

Should the weather be unfavorable Wednesday night, the game will be played Thursday morning instead.

Since the installation of lights early in the season, Griffin High has enjoyed one of its most successful seasons. The crowds have continued to increase and preparations are being made to care for a record crowd Wednesday night.

Statesboro Team Meets Newberry

STATESBORO, Ga., Nov. 28.—The largest crowd ever to see a football game in this section of the state is expected here Thanksgiving when the South Georgia Teachers meet Newberry College.

The game here Thursday will be the first S. L. A. game ever staged in Statesboro and the people of this section and the college here is backing the game 100 per cent.

Both Newberry and the Teachers are reported to be the best of condition. Newberry has a line that averages 190 pounds, with an experienced backfield. The Teachers hope to overcome this with a speedy team especially by apt in blocking and tackling. Both Newberry and the Teachers have good records for the season.

The probable starting lineup as announced by Coach Smith, of the Teachers, and Coach McLean, of Newberry, follows:

Bobby Shoots 64 On No. 1 Course

Bobby Jones is still at it! The retired champion Tuesday carded a 64, eight strokes under par, and one over his record round on some eight or nine years ago. He played the old course.

Jones three-putted the 19th green and missed a three-footer on the long hole. He carried an eagle two on the eighth and was playing on the summer greens.

Bobby was playing with his father, C. E. Freeman and R. A. McCord.

Strong Legs and Weak

Lawrence Hayes, of Atlanta, star halfback and triple threat of the Tech freshman football team, is one of those young players who will do their bit for charity and the Scottish Rite hospital fund in the Thanksgiving Day game with Georgia's Bulldogs. Hayes, a member of Boys' High championship team last year, is shown holding one of the kiddies who will be benefited by the game, expected to draw a big crowd. Staff photo.

Youngest of Tharpes Will Play Thursday

Kid Brother of Mack and Bob Makes Debut Against Georgia Frosh.

By Jimmy Jones.

There were three little pigs who weren't at all afraid of the big bad wolf.

And there are three football players from Moultrie, Ga., a pig-packing town, who aren't afraid of a wolf, a Bengal tiger or anything else.

We refer to the three Tharpe brothers, two of whom are now playing football at Georgia Tech.

The great big brother is Mack Tharpe. He was a fiery tackle at the Flats for three seasons—one of Coach Alexander's best—and was added to the coaching staff upon his graduation in '27.

The middle-sized brother is Bob (Blondy) Tharpe, who is playing the greatest football of his career at Tech's left tackle in this, his last season with the Tornado.

The little brother's name is Ernest Tharpe, and he is a promising 170-pound halfback on the Tech freshman team which plays the Georgia freshmen at Grant field at 2:30 Thanksgiving afternoon for the greatest cause in the world, the crippled kiddies' hospital fund.

The three Tharpe brothers are all from Moultrie and proud of it. They are all big, rangy boys.

Young Ernest Tharpe, to all appearances, is a very worthy kid brother and plays the Tharpe brand of football. That is, he can take it and dish it out, which is the best description of the Tharpes on the football field.

THEIR OWN GAME.

The Tech freshmen will get a chance to play some football Saturday, or rather their own football. They might at any moment leap into a Notre Dame shift or McGugin's old Vanderbilt punt formation. But they will be playing their own game.

For at least seven weeks of every season, the freshmen are guinea pigs for varsity experiments. They spend their time learning opposition plays and absorbing the shocks of trying to get away with them.

But for the game with the Georgia freshmen, the coaches have lightened their burdens somewhat and brought in the Gray Devils, who don't play anybody, to act as the shock absorbers.

Atlanta will see a very good freshman club in action for Tech Saturday. The Baby Jackets have several players who have held their own very well with the varsity.

There are some good linemen in Presson, Smith, Carr, Boulware and Fitzsimmons and some good backs in Hayes, from Atlanta; young Mr. Tharpe from Moultrie; McKay from Monroe, and Beard from Atlanta.

The Tech lineup probably will be as follows:
Smith, center; Carr and Matthews, guards; Fitzsimmons and Ray (or O. Smith), tackles; Boulware and "Twenty Percent" Davis Jr. (son of an old Tech star), at ends.

McKay from Red Barron's Monroe team is the quarterback; Hayes and Tharpe, the halfbacks, and Dick Beard the fullback. There are other backs, including Owens, Moore, etc., and other linemen, too.

The Tech Frosh have played only one game. They went to Auburn with no offense at all, gained only seven yards and scored two touchdowns, losing, 21-13. They will be better with their own offense, or rather one that they have practiced.

Officials of the Shrine organization, which sponsors the Scottish Rite hospital, have worked diligently on the game.

JACKETS USED TO OPPONENTS GETTING READY

Blue Devils' Air Game Will Be Threat; Martin Is Injured.

By Jimmy Jones.

According to reports emanating from Durham—where Bull Durham is manufactured—poor old Duke, unbent and untied in nine football games, may be without two, possibly three or four, of its main stars in the game with Georgia Tech here Saturday.

The Tech players, if they were betting men, would lay out any kind of odds that all four of them will play.

The reports from Durham indicate that both Tom Rogers, who plays an end or a defensive back as Wallace Wade decrees, and Nick Laney, veteran halfback, are definitely out of the game and that there is some doubt about B. B. Cox, potent fullback, and Dunlap, regular center, participating, also.

"OH, YEAH"

To all this at Tech players will only arch their eyebrows and give you a loud "Oh, yeah!"

They remember quite vividly a half dozen crises on the Georgia team which were suddenly transformed into well men at the sight of Grant field and a Gold and White uniform.

When Harry Mehre commanded them, these crises not only picked up their beds and walked, but threw the beds away and started running (with or in front of the ball).

The Duke players may be hurt as the Duke publicity man states. We wouldn't dispute his veracity in asserting that two of them actually went to an infirmary. But the Tech players will never believe it, anyway, so that makes no difference. The figure that as long as they are not paralyzed in all limbs they will play against Tech.

Which is about the truth of it, for the Jackets, always ready to inspire their foes to heroic deeds. There is no doubt that Georgia's players were hurt, all six of them. But the entire season's play against Tech and pretty good football for decrepits, if you please.

A FINE TEAM.

Tech is more concerned with the personnel and caliber of Duke's football team. While it may not be considered Rose Bowl caliber, it is undoubtedly a very strong football team. Don't forget that it defeated Auburn and Tennessee and Kentucky, pretty fair football teams themselves.

Wallace Wade has capitalized on every available asset in moulding this team and plays it a bit unorthodox. He plays an end at halfback, a halfback at end, interchangeable for various situations, and has a guard backing the line. He pulls Rossiter, an end, back on pass plays and for kicking, sometimes making a tackle eligible for a pass or sending a back up to the line.

Duke has a very talented passing team. They combined an arm and a leg in frequent efforts to score before they made it through the line. Rossiter and Laney can throw a pass. So can the Duke team. So one sees that this 1933 Wade team is a most versatile one. Wallace admits it, himself, so there is no secret about that.

OUT FOR PASSES.

The Blue Devils, who have been most alert at intercepting passes, having grabbed eight of North Carolina's, will be set to break up Tech's devastating passing game. They will be out to grab them, too, but no team yet has been able to break up Tech's flaps, as tossed by Phillips.

The Jackets will be working for a Duke team that will be at its maximum performing ability. To them, NRA means "no rumors allowed." They don't believe in rumors.

None of the Duke players are possibly a tenth, John Pool, will conclude their careers with the Duke game. Those who say their farewell to Grant field are Galloway, Peterson, Davis, Stouck, Spradling, Tharpe, Laws, Lackey and Brady. Pool has another year of varsity competition, since he did not participate in 1931, but may graduate in the spring.

The Duke team will arrive Friday in time for a workout.

Martin Injured In Tech Drill

Georgia Tech drew its first injury of the week yesterday when "Sun Dial" Martin, the halfback hero who scored touchdowns against Georgia, last night received an injured knee in scrimmage.

It was impossible last night to tell the extent of Martin's injury. Trainer Chambers said he would not know until this morning.

If Martin is lost, Tech will be kept up for halfbacks simply. Billy Street already is out of the game. Chambers thinks Martin will come around, however.

Mit's optimism, promising freshman tackle, was another casualty yesterday, also getting a knee injury. But he probably will be able to play Thursday against the Georgia freshmen.

Duke Followers To See Tech Game

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 28.—North Carolina grid fans in great numbers will witness an Atlanta Saturday to see the undefeated, untied Blue Devils of Duke face their last, and what is thought to be the biggest hurdle in their path to an unmarred record for the season.

Special trains will be run from many cities in the state and railway officials report that a record-breaking number of reservations have already been made.

Four trains will be run from Durham. A great number of fans will be with the team when it leaves over the Seaboard Thursday night and will travel over that line Friday when another train is run. The band will travel over the Southern, leaving here Friday, and a great number of fans will be on that special.

The majority of the student body will travel on one of the special trains. A great number are also planning to travel to the game.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Control Press Association

Alex Morrison says:

Every player should check up on his posture.

Every so often he'll find that he has fallen into the habit of bending over too much toward the ball.

This direct forward bending of the body, next to allowing the head to turn, is the worst fault a player can have. It actually prevents smoothness of power in the movements of any part of the body.

Standing almost fully erect will afford an immediate relief from tension and allow the entire body, arms and hands, to move with ease.

Don't be afraid of not getting down to the ball. Just stand up straight and the resulting freedom will enable your club to swing under the ball.

ROUGH RICHARD, PAT O'SHOCKER RASSLE TONIGHT

Chief Chewchki Engages Al Bafford in Semi-Windup Here.

Additional color was added yesterday for the weekly wrestling card at the city auditorium tonight when Chief Chewchki replaced Dr. Karl Sarpolis, who is injured. The chief will meet Al Bafford, French-Canadian star, in the semi-windup.

Dr. Sarpolis wired Matchmaker Henry Weber that injuries would prevent his going through with the match and Weber immediately communicated with Chewchki. The chief was glad of the opportunity to return to Atlanta.

Tonight's feature match is one of the best of the season. Rough Richard and Daviscourt takes on Pat O'Shocker, the terrible shock from Utah.

It's a match O'Shocker has been craving for some time and one that injuries prevented him from getting no so very long ago.

A NATURAL. He has kept after Weber ever since to get him the match. It is a natural. Both are rough and rugged and will give the fans plenty of action.

Both have in and wrestle at all times. There is not a lot of clinching and make-believe. They wrestle. While Daviscourt has appeared here recently, it is O'Shocker's first appearance in several months. He has been enjoying a lot of success in the east.

Wild Chief Chewchki, the Cherokee, expects to make Bafford's Atlanta debut a miserable one. But Bafford isn't to be subdued without a battle. And he may not be subdued at all.

MAY EAT WORDS. Bafford was talking. "I heard that Chewchki said he would chase me out of Atlanta. All I have to say is that instead of eating hats on this trip he is going to eat some words."

The first 300 ladies entering the auditorium on paid admissions tonight will receive a box of candy as compliments of Matchmaker Weber.

Tickets are still on sale at the Piedmont Hatters.

Twitty Warns Georgia's Hunters

Peter S. Twitty, Georgia fish and game commissioner, on Thanksgiving eve has issued a warning to reckless hunters for their own protection.

"Thanksgiving is the one big hunting day of the year. With an unusual abundance of game of all kinds and prospects of good hunting weather, it is reasonable to assume that there will be more hunting on Thanksgiving than on any other day."

"Almost every Thanksgiving brings with it many hunting casualties and for that reason we want to warn all hunters to be exceedingly careful with the use of firearms this year."

"Hunters also should be cautioned to be exceedingly careful with fire at this time of the year. The woods and fields are unusually dry and for that reason hunters should be especially careful with matches, cigarettes, in view of the destruction of game by forest fires."

BACHMAN WANTS RULES CHANGED

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 28. (P)—Coach Charles Bachman, of Michigan State College, believes that a change in rules governing forward passing in the scoring zone will level the advantage defensive eleven are supposed to enjoy under present grid rules.

Bachman's recipe involves a change in the rule which gives the ball to a defensive on the 20-yard line when a forward pass is grounded in the end zone on any but the fourth down.

"When a team reaches the 10-yard line the signal caller is tempted to abandon passing because loss of the ball and an additional 10 yards is too much of a gamble," Bachman said. "If the rule is changed to make a grounded pass a touchback only on fourth down, it will open up the game to a greater extent and give the offensive at least an even chance inside the 20-yard line."

"Give the quarterback a chance to throw passes in a scoring position without the mental hazard that now exists, and you will see a lot more spectacular football and also do away with a lot of tie games."

Bachman also believes that the ball should be brought in 15 yards from the sideline instead of 10 after it has been run out of bounds, to give the team in possession a better chance to get its attack under way.

The Spartan mentor is in accord with the "dead ball" rule which prohibits a ball carrier from advancing after any part of his body other than hands or feet touches the ground.

DUKE'S INJURED BACK ON FIELD

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 28. (P)—Al Duke's injured gridders were back on the field, although not taking part in the practice, as the Blue Devils put in another afternoon of preparing for the final game with Georgia Tech.

Of the four injured players, Tom Rogers, Bob Cox, E. B. Dunlap and Dick Laney, only Cox was in uniform. All watched the proceedings from the sidelines but all save Laney will probably be able to play against Tech.

The varsity was unimpressive enough in a short offensive drill and, unable to gain over the third-stringers, were sent in early. The second team state what was said by Coach Rogers, who said that the first-stringers had been sent to the showers.

ROSS LEAVES.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (UP)—Barney Ross, of Chicago, lightweight and junior welterweight champion, left today for New York, where he will meet Billy Petrolle, N. D., in a 10-round non-title bout December 6.

Ross defeated Petrolle last March before he won his double title from Tony Canzoneri, the New York bout will be at 142 pounds, with Ross giving away about five pounds to his opponent.

Baer May Settle Suit Out of Court

OAKLAND, Cal., Nov. 28. (P)—The probability of a settlement out of court of the $250,000 breach of promise suit brought against Max Baer, handsome heavyweight fighter, by Miss Olive Beck was announced by attorneys here today.

Rozier C. Culp, counsel for the Livermore, Cal., waitress who said Baer broke his promise to marry her, said terms of a settlement have "practically been reached."

Clifford Russell, acting as legal second for Baer, conferred with Culp last night, and agreed that a compromise appeared to be likely. Neither attorney would state what the compromise was, but it was said that Baer had proposed but intimated it would be a considerable sum.

Baer was scheduled to appear in superior court in Sacramento today in connection with litigation involving himself and his two managers, Ancil Hoffman and J. Hamilton Lorimer.

PRINCETON 'OUT' AS PROSPECT FOR ROSE BOWL

Tiger Board Cites Clause Forbidding Post-Season Games.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 28. (P)—Citing a clause in the Yale-Princeton agreement of 1927 which forbids the playing of post-season contests, the board of control of the Princeton Athletic Association announced today the undefeated Tiger eleven would not be available for selection as Stanford's opponent in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena New Year's Day.

The announcement came as a distinct surprise in view of intimations from Princeton yesterday that any invitation to compete at Pasadena would receive serious consideration in the event the Tigers defeated Yale on Saturday.

Today, however, the board reaffirmed its policy against post-season games on the grounds that "a prolongation of the Princeton football season beyond its normal limits would not be for the best interests of the players or the sport at Princeton."

PREFERS PRINCETON. A poll of Stanford players yesterday indicated the Cardinals would have preferred Princeton as their Rose Bowl opponent with Army, Michigan, Duke and Navy trailing in that order.

The board's action was announced by Thurston J. Davies, acting chairman, without comment either from Princeton Head Coach Howard (Fritz) Crysler, or university authorities.

The text of the statement follows: "In view of the widespread comment and conjecture regarding Princeton's attitude toward a possible Rose Bowl contest this year, the board of control of the Princeton University Athletic Association wishes to state that a long-standing policy of the university, enunciated in agreements between Yale and Princeton in 1923 and again in 1927, specifically concerns contests of this nature."

The clause involved states: "No post-season contest or contests for the purpose of settling sectional or other championship shall be permitted."

NOT BEST POLICY. "The primary factor which led to the adoption of this policy was the conviction that a prolongation of the Princeton football season beyond its normal limits would not be for the best interests of the players or the sport at Princeton. After a review of the considerations which resulted in its formulation, the board reaffirms the policy and considers it advisable to make its point of view in the matter public at the present time."

It was learned at the same time that no negotiations looking toward a Stanford-Princeton game had been instituted by Stanford authorities in whose hands rests the privilege of selecting Stanford's opponent in the New Year's Day classic.

Some observers believed the Princeton board had stated its position positively at this time in order to forestall a possible invitation which would have to be declined.

Although Ass. Bushnell, graduate manager of athletics at Princeton, had indicated yesterday the Tigers would give due consideration to any invitation to the Rose Bowl game, he pointed out at the same time that the Yale-Princeton agreement specifically forbade post-season games.

"Release from this clause never has been asked," Bushnell said at that time. "I have no idea what Yale's attitude would be."

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Houghton Rice

The Rose Bowl Tangle. If the Rose Bowl arrow finally points to the south for a Stanford opponent, there is now a new claimant in the field, provided east and midwest decline—which they may not.

This is Alabama, in case Georgia Tech stops Duke on Saturday, which Georgia Tech still has to do.

If that happens, the Alabama argument will be this: "Stanford has lost one game and had one tie—Alabama has lost one game and had one tie. Alabama has been to Rose Bowl games for three invasions without a defeat. The last Alabama-Stanford meeting ended in a 7-7 draw. Alabama today, with her regulars in shape, has one of the strong teams of the country—one of the strongest. Alabama would be a big card on the west coast in the wake of her past performances. If Georgia Tech beats Duke and the Rose Bowl call comes to a southern team, Alabama should have the edge."

The Alabama-Vanderbilt and the Duke-Georgia Tech games must still figure in this debate.

The season isn't over yet—and that also includes Army. Princeton has decided not to be a candidate.

So far as Alabama is concerned, the Crimson Tide has one of the strong teams of football—a complete test for anybody.

Stars and Counter-Stars. The evenly matched strength of so many of the leading teams of the country, shown by the season's records of extremely close games, is reflected in the individual list of stars.

Which is to say, the number of stand-outs is limited, especially when applied to ends, tackles and guards—even to centers and backs.

No one back has been as brilliant all season as Warburton, of Southern California, but there have been exceptional performances by Lund of Minnesota; Sauer, of Nebraska; Feathers, of Tennessee; Franklin, of Oregon State; Buckler, of the Army; Danowski, of Portland; Williams, of St. Mary's; Grayson, of Stanford; Purvis, of Purdue, and Le Van, of Princeton—to mention only a partial off-hand list. More than one story will be told in this week's games.

What They're Thankful For. The duffer—any drive that isn't a slice. Or a top or a bluff.

Yale, Chicago and Cornell—for Dartmouth.

National league hitters—that there is only one Carl Hubbell, and that Carl has only one left arm.

Harvard—for Yale's forward pass defense.

The Queer Climax. It is doubtful if any football season has come to such a queer climax as the campaign of 1933 now presents.

Here are Army, Princeton and Duke—three unbeaten, untied teams—facing three opponents who have dropped 15 contests.

Notre Dame has lost five games and been shut out six times. Yale has dropped three games and Georgia Tech has been rapped five times. Off-hand you would say that Saturday would be a Babylonian revel, a rollicking picnic, a tea dance and a triple push-over.

This may work out in one of the three cases. But there are still a few windows over the leaders. Duke is sure to have her share of trouble with Georgia Tech in spite of comparative scores.

And there are still physical elements in the Notre Dame and Yale camps that may reach a boiling point in the first staging of the game.

Both Army and Princeton realize the fact that they have been shut out by teams that Notre Dame and Yale. They have played twice the football that Notre Dame and Yale have played.

They are better football teams than Notre Dame and Yale, regardless of what one game may show.

But football can be a queer, unexplainable game at times—at many times.

There is always the chance for a wild uprising on the part of the beaten to try to redeem a bad year—and this often happens when the opposing targets are such shining stars.

The emotional elements in such a spot can do some weird and wonderful things, which have no place in logic or reason, form or past performance chart.

Tad Jones Helps Yale To Prepare

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 28. (P)—Tad Jones, great Yale football coach of not so long ago, came back today to help his former pupil, now head Coach Reggie Root, lift the boys out of a rut of mediocrity and into winning ways for the Princeton game.

Tad was at the field throughout the practice. The men would almost entirely on the attack—always a strong point of Jones-coached teams.

The old master quit after the 1927 season and took back a note of Tad's teams in '23, '24 and '25, seeks a victory over the undefeated and untied Tigers Saturday at the Bowl, in his first year as head coach of the Elis.

Requests for tickets to the Tulane-Louisiana State University game at New Orleans December 2 came from states as far away as New York and California.

Cannon May Play In Charity Game

Jack Cannon, Georgia Tech line coach and former All-American, can guard at Notre Dame, has been invited to play in a special charity game Sunday at Newark, N. J., featuring former stars who played under the late Knute Rockne.

Other Notre Dame players who made the All-American selections also have been invited. Due to Tech's game with Duke Saturday afternoon, Cannon is not sure whether or not he can accept the offer. If he does accept he will have to fly to the game and return.

Cannon recently was chosen guard on University Magazine's all-time football team. He also made Grantland Rice's Collier's selection in 1929. He has been Tech's line coach since 1930.

All of the games to be bowled in the Southern Sweepstakes will be scheduled on alleys fronting the spacious grandstand and there will be no charge of admission to spectators who wish to view the procedure and follow their friends through the grind to the top rung of the championship.

The ladies bowl ten games only, five being scheduled at 3 o'clock and the other five at 8 o'clock.

The men bowl 15 games, five games at 2 o'clock, 5 games at 5 o'clock and five games at 8 o'clock.

PETRELS WORK ON DEFENSIVE FOR BEAR GAME

Great Battle Forecast for Saturday in Centennial Stadium.

By Jack Troy.

Oglethorpe's Petrels may not be able to give it but the chances are they will be ready to take it against Mercer Saturday afternoon in Centennial stadium, Macon.

And to this end Coach Harry Robertson is going to work on the defensive in a big way in the practices out at Hermance field. Hermance field is a romance field with air castles being built in the air.

A strong feeling prevails that the Oglethorpe defense, which caused Auburn quite a bit of trouble, is going to be better against Mercer.

And strong defensive clubs have made it tough for the Bears this season. There was, for instance, the Birmingham-Southern game, which ended in a scoreless tie. And the Furman game, which resulted in a 6-0 tie. Chattanooga offered a stern defense and Mercer barely won, 6 to 0.

CAPABLE. The Oglethorpe team is one that is capable of playing real football. The offense stalled against Auburn when the defense was going strong.

Only once this season has Oglethorpe been able to put the two together for an entire game. That was against Manhattan College, which ended in a scoreless tie.

Well, Saturday is just as good a day as any for the Petrels to play the game of football they have in their system.

And all the elements favoring it are there. Traditional rivalry. The final game for several of the players. A real spirit born of three straight losses.

REST BELIEFS. Since it is the final game of the season, the BIG game—there is nothing to hold back for. And a week's rest has aided Oglethorpe no little.

Granted that Mercer has her greatest year and has come through her hardest schedule in grand style, the fact remains, nevertheless, that Oglethorpe is noted for doing the unexpected. You can look forward to it.

Oglethorpe has come through a schedule that has included Newberry, Manhattan, Alabama, Auburn, Citadel, Chattanooga, Erskine and Stetson, with four victories and four defeats.

The Petrels are in their best condition of the season. In addition to the return of Jack Harrison and Lawrence Wade, star backs, there are Frank Mitnick, Harry Wren, Phil Hildreth, Sam Leslie, Hoyt Farmer, Eddie Anderson, Belton Clark and other good backs in fine shape.

END CAREERS. Freeman, Craven, Robinson, Darracott, Chandler, Shaw, Shouse, McNeely and Pickard are the better line-men.

Football fans of middle Georgia will have their last chance to see nine stars play. Zinkowsky, Trommerhauser and Popeko, star backs, and Harrison, Olsson, Camp, Reaser, Bell and Reddick, great linemen, and their collegiate careers in the game.

McNeely is the favorite in the betting, but Oglethorpe is not to be considered lightly. Anything can happen in the colorful annual game.

Bears Look Good In Long Drill

MACON, Ga., Nov. 28.—Mercer showed the best form in several weeks today in going through a long scrimmage drill against Oglethorpe formations.

The Stormy Petrels play the Bears here Saturday, bringing down the curtain on the local football season.

The Bears were impressive on both offense and defense today. First taking the field with the ball, Robert E. Lee and Ernie Zinkowsky repeated, ripped off long gains behind neat blocking. Gerald McQuigley, the big fullback, was also running with lots of drive.

Going on the defense, the varsity, led by the giant tackles, Swede Olsson and Red Camp, spilled the Oglethorpe players in surprising fashion. Corbett Williamson, a second-string tackle, also looked well when his team took the field.

Cotton Harrison, recently reinstated after being dropped for infraction of training rules, suffered a slightly sprained ankle in scrimmage that cut short his practice.

Stoefen Declares He'll Not Turn Pro

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28. (P)—Lester Stoefen, Los Angeles, 1933 men's doubles tennis champion, said today, "I have no intention of turning professional either this or next year."

The statement came in answer to reports from Philadelphia that Stoefen, with George Lott, Cliff Sutter and Keith Gledhill, had expressed a desire to turn professional and join the Tilden tour.

"I have never been approached by Tilden," said Stoefen, "and I have not given the professional situation much thought. I am more interested in making the 1934 Davis cup team."

L. S. U. Is Busy Erecting Defense

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 28. (P)—Louisiana State University's grid coaches were as busy as one-armed paper hangers in practice today trying to perfect a defense capable of completely stopping Tulane's heavy fleet backs in the traditional Tiger-Wave melee this Saturday.

"I have never been approached by Tilden," said Stoefen, "and I have not given the professional situation much thought. I am more interested in making the 1934 Davis cup team."

7,000,000-Volt Current Generated By Atom-Breakers in Science Test

By PAUL V. COCHRANE.
SOUTH DARTMOUTH, Mass., Nov. 28.—(AP)—To the roar of thunderous reverberations that rolled through the lofty spaces of an airship hangar here tonight, nearly five times more continuous direct current voltage than has been generated before in the history of the world was sent crackling into space.

A little group of scientists and newspapermen, huddled against a wall in the big steel hangar, watched in awe as science's latest siege gun, two big spherical atom-breaking terminals mounted on lofty columns of insulation barked away at each other with 7,000,000 volts of sputtering electricity.

Wierd violet flashes played fitfully about the silvery spheres high up among the girders of the dim building while strong vivid bolts of blinding intensity hurled themselves from one ball to the other.

Forty feet below, at the control mechanism of the two towers, which were separately mounted on a single railroad track, operators bent low over dials that gauged the velocity of the powerful generators. Occasionally they crouched yet closer to the steel shields that protected them overhead as stray bolts thundered groundward. It was a day of triumph for a 32-year old hero, Dr. Robert J. Van de Graaf, research associate in the department of physics of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology chambers, who for the past six years had worked on the development of a machine which would wrest from the atom the secret of its internal construction.

Van de Graaf, who had labored into nightfall in putting the finishing touches to the twin generators, was frankly delighted with the result of his experiment, witnessed, among others, by Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Technology, and by Dr. Vannevar Bush, vice president of the institute.

Not only had the generators reached a maximum estimated by Van de Graaf, but they had, in addition, clearly shown that the planned maximum capacity of 10,000,000 volts was merely a question of limitation imposed by the height of the hangar.

"If the experiment could have been conducted outside," he explained, "I am sure we would have reached 10,000,000 volts."

As astounding was the voltage gen-

SALES TAX APPROVED BY MISSOURI HOUSE

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 28.—(AP)—A 1 per cent general sales tax bill, advocated by Governor Guy B. Park to raise an estimated $7,000,000 to $9,000,000 annually for unemployment relief, was passed today by the Missouri house of representatives. It now goes to the senate, where strong opposition is expected.

erated that scientists present recalled that with the exception of a previous and smaller machine perfected by Van de Graaf himself a few years ago, the highest continuous direct current voltage ever before reached was a mere 800,000 volts.

Spectacular as was tonight's demonstration it was, however, only the first step in a path that Van de Graaf and his associates believe will lead to the exploration of a field of extraordinary scientific significance.

The voltage which went hurtling wildly from one to the other of the great spherical terminals will soon be harnessed and put to work.

Shooting through a laminated paper tube which will connect the two terminals when the machine is finished, the volts will carry ionized hydrogen atoms along in furious bombardments of other atoms whose nature science has not yet fully penetrated.

20 WARD MUDDLE IS HIT AT MEETING

9 Members of Committee Gather, Declare Result 'No Nomination.'

Declaring no nomination in the second ward councilmanic primary contest and thus attempting to put Howland C. McCutcheon, former councilman and Warren W. Leak, incumbent, on the same footing in the December 6 general election, nine members of the democratic committee attending a meeting Tuesday night at the city hall, passed resolutions to carry out such a plan.

A. L. Belle Isle, named chairman of the meeting, declared that a quorum of the entire committee of 32 was present on the assumption that the committee rules failed to stipulate a number required for a quorum, that the nine constituted more than a majority of the number on the sub-committee and that the gathering "is in the interest of good government and a clean ballot."

Lengthy resolutions adopted by the group pointed out that McCutcheon was the nominee by one vote on the face of returns from the regular primary, but that subsequent investigation by the grand jury showed that two ballots cast in the name of the same person had been counted for McCutcheon. They cited, therefore, that the balloting was a tie and that no nominee should have been declared.

Tom C. Smith, who circulated the petition for a special session of the committee, charged that a telephone barrage had been laid and that intimidation and pleas had been made to prevent a large attendance at the Tuesday night session. He said charges made by Dr. Samuel Green, chairman of the retiring committee, that some of the names had been obtained through "driving" misinformants, those solicited and that one name had been forged.

The following names in addition to the petition in addition to Belle Isle, C. Smith, Press Wickersham, secretary of the retiring committee; Ed Fenger, G. C. O'Dell, C. M. Bolen, J. D. W. Goodman, W. C. Morrison and Robert L. Goodwin were present.

The following names in addition to those who attended were on the petition, according to Wickersham, asking Dr. Green to call a special meeting of the committee:

Fred W. Lyons, G. W. Lyons, R. E. Elrod, Hugh A. Smith, E. F. McMillan, T. E. Habel, Dr. S. T. Biggers, W. E. Durham, T. T. Cochran, H. J. Foster, W. P. Gresham, J. F. Aldred, C. V. Ferguson, L. Dewberry, C. S. Fraser, G. A. Cole.

UNIVERSITY LOAN APPROVAL IS SEEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Prospects for favorable action on the application for loan of $3,000,000 by the University System of Georgia was seen today by Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, after an extended conference with officials of the national public works administration.

Senator Russell, who returned to his office here this morning, spent most of the day discussing details of the application with officials of the PWA.

"I feel very much encouraged over prospects for this loan," he said afterward, "and strongly urged approval of the application. Officials have been impressed with the importance of the developments proposed, both from the standpoint of relieving unemployment and providing needed improvements in the university system. I believe the application will be approved."

The fund sought would be used in improving various phases of the state university system, building dormitories, subsidizing housing projects and the like, with the idea of every congressional district of the state participating. The state university at Athens would be allotted approximately $800,000 of the amount.

Georgia Tech at Atlanta would receive some $785,000, Senator Russell said. He plans to confer with officials returning to his home later in the week.

BLACK WILL OFFER HIS RESIGNATION AT WARM SPRINGS

the decision with the chief executive, where Black has always maintained to his intimates that it rested with him to be had to intention of "quitting in the middle of a fight" but that a hint that Mr. Roosevelt wished to replace him would be sufficient to send him back to his old place as governor of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank.

Just what the board discussed at the meeting which preceded Black's departure, none of the members would say. It was learned, however, that figures which Black took south, prepared by the board's statistical staff, were not included in the discussion. These were regarded as private information for the guidance of the president.

The survey planned by the labor department would be financed by funds to be requested of congress at its January session.

Such a survey would fit neatly into the currency plans, officials said, some describing it as indispensable. The commodity dollar theory contemplates a currency with a gold backing to be adjusted from time to time to changes in the price level. The purpose is to keep the buying power of the dollar from wide fluctuations.

The labor department's bureau of labor statistics now is at work on the final stages of a survey of living costs in the District of Columbia, Boston, New Orleans, Baltimore, St. Louis, and Chicago. This was ordered by law to determine whether government employees are to have their 15 per cent pay cut restored in whole or part or continued.

In carrying out the survey new methods were adopted, amounting especially in Washington, to a virtual house-to-house canvass to determine the prices paid for various articles.

New items were added, previously not included in the indices, such as automobiles, gasoline, electric refrigeration and insurance. Obsolete items were dropped.

It was estimated that much the same procedure would be followed in the general survey. It is to be begun as quickly as funds are made available. The bureau is already engaged in selecting the cities, towns and other communities that will be included.

No Secret.
Governor Black has made no secret of his own private views on the administration's gold buying program. He has, nevertheless, maintained in spite of this, there was no rift between the reserve board and the treasury, now under the direction of Henry Morgenthau Jr., an ardent supporter of the gold plan.

Earlier in the day, the administration gave fresh indication that despite the decision evoked by its gold buying plan in the last week, it was going forward with it.

The price of reconstruction corporate bonds of domestic newly-mined gold was increased for the first time in a week, rising from $33.76 to $33.85. This carried the quotation above the $34 mark, a world figure of the metal which was $32.83 when the Washington figure was determined.

Morgenthau today omitted his usual conference with the press. He was busy conferring with departmental officials on tax matters, reports the Washington Post. He was also making plans for a visit to the University System of Georgia, which was seen today by Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, after an extended conference with officials of the national public works administration.

EMPIRE TRUST CO. TWO OTHER BANKS TO BE LIQUIDATED

capture institution, Cam D. Frey, of Atlanta, was announced as president of the First Mortgage Company; E. W. Copeland, of Macon, as president of the Georgia Building and Loan Association; and H. S. Sams, of Decatur, head of the third.

Later on it is proposed to seek loans aggregating several millions of dollars to operate more than 40 other closed banks in the state, including those operating under both state and national charters, but before this is done, the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, which is the state supreme court already. Expectations are that the situation will be clarified in about 30 days.

Applications Asked For.
In the meantime the Atlanta banker said tonight it was advisable for receivers for all closed banks of their applications to proceed immediately with their applications in order to have them in readiness for further loans to be sought as soon as the court procedure to be determined upon is definitely outlined.

"It is important for the receivers to go along with the preparation of their applications," said Mr. Clay. "We would like to have them in hand as early as possible."

Mr. Clay was accompanied to Washington by General Charles Cox, of Atlanta, special assistant to the chairman of the sixth reserve district depositors' liquidation board, who joined with him in the several conferences today. Both returned to Atlanta on a late train tonight.

After a final conference tonight with Jesse Jones, head of the Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Mr. Clay announced that a further loan of $3,200,000 had been arranged for the liquidation of two closed banks, the Merchants Bank and Trust Co. of Jackson, and the Cash Bank & Trust Co. of Meridian. Both institutions come under his jurisdiction as chairman of the liquidation board for the sixth federal reserve district.

The depositors of the Empire Trust Company according to Superintendent of Banks H. E. Gormley, are due $248,000 while those of the Decatur Bank and Trust Company are due $270,000, which represents 1-2 per cent of the deposits on hand when the institution closed. The Decatur bank depositors already have received 47 1/2 per cent of their money.

The liquidation of this bank is being handled through the Decatur Building Company, of which Augustine Sams is president.

Mrs. W. A. Gregg, beloved and prominent Atlantan, will celebrate her 75th birthday Sunday, December 3, at her home on Capitol avenue. Present upon this occasion will be Mrs. Gregg's children, including Lewis C. Gregg, Robert Gregg, William A. Gregg, Misses Elizabeth, Emma and Evelyn Gregg. Her two granddaughters, Misses Elizabeth Adair Gregg and Peggy O'Neill Gregg will also be present for the informal celebration.

Mrs. Gregg was formerly Miss Lizzie Luckie Jones, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harris Jones, her father being marshal of Atlanta during the Civil War. Mr. and Mrs. Jones were numbered among Atlanta's early pioneers, the latter being Miss Rebecca Luckie before her marriage, who was noted for her worthy deeds of charity and one of Atlanta's most beloved women.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregg's marriage took place on January 16, 1877, and was the first ceremony to take place in the old Trinity Methodist church that formerly stood on the corner of Whitehall street and Trinity avenue. The completion of which was rushed for the event. Like her parents and her husband, Mrs. Gregg, whose name has been enrolled in the Trinity church roster for 63 years, is known for her loyalty and faithful attendance there. The late Mr. Gregg, who was a member of the firm, Beck & Gregg Hardware Company, was likewise this city's most influential citizen.

Throughout the years the Gregg home on Capitol avenue has been the scene of brilliant social functions in which Atlanta's socially prominent assembled and on next Sunday afternoon the beautiful old home again will gather many friends of this highly esteemed Atlantan who have enjoyed her hospitality and friendship for more than three score years.

By VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Currency stabilization hopes were slightly dimmed in the bond market today and prices generally eased in dull and unimportant trading.

Sales totaled $11,302,000, par value, smaller aggregate than that of yesterday, and the average for 60 domestic corporate loans was off two-tenths of a point.

The recent substantial recovery was halted when the R. F. C. lifted the domestic gold price 9 cents an ounce—the first advance since last Tuesday—and the dollar turned reactionary in foreign exchange markets. Other market influences were mostly of a minor character.

United States government securities were particularly heavy, losing a point or more at one time. They finished above their low points, however, when dollar rates recovered moderately.

Final declines ranged from 1/32nd to 3/32nd of a point. Transfers of the federalers amounted to about $3,200,000. The majority of corporate loans ended with unimportant gains and losses. Moderate improvement was shown by some issues of K. C. Southern, National Steel, Norfolk & Western, Southern Railway and Texas Corporation.

Recessions of fractions to around a point were recorded by American Telephone, Allegheny Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Dodge Brothers and Remington Rand.

Foreign obligations were irregular despite the rate in exchange. French 7s lost 2 points and the 7 1/2s were up 5/8. Loans of Germany, Great Britain and Cuba improved.

In addition, $14,828,088 in loans were authorized and are ready for advance, making a grand total of $26,805,944 of loans authorized.

ROOSEVELT TALKS ON PWA WITHICKES

Administrator Leaves for Washington With More Projects Approved.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 28. (AP)—President Roosevelt indulged in another real vacation time today, conferring, incidentally, with two of his recovery leaders, Secretary Ickes, public works administrator, and Secretary Wallace. Mr. Ickes left tonight by motor for Atlanta to board a train for Washington, carrying with him the approval of some public works projects and a request to recommend the extent of additional public works to be proposed.

Mr. Wallace turned to the problems of agriculture after yesterday's conference on the liquor code, which was approved by the president. But nothing particularly new was up for consideration with either of the government heads and Mr. Roosevelt seemed anxious that they enjoy his vacation while they reported on the recovery drive. To all appearances, the administration is satisfied with the trend of the campaign for better times.

The complex monetary problem with its disputed commodity dollar goal comes up again tomorrow with the arrival here of Eugene Black, governor of the federal reserve board.

While joining in the administration conferences on the solid purchase program and co-operating in its fulfillment, Mr. Black is understood to be among those on the conservative side of this effort.

Eugene Vidal, assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aeronautics, reported in today.

Another visitor was Dr. Paul Haertl, German physician, who came to make another inspection of the warm waters here. The peculiar susceptibility of the waters to cause the ultra violet rays is causing his study.

The Young Men's Democratic Clubs of Georgia assembled here today to hold a noon luncheon and meeting. Tonight the president attends the annual show of the patients and people here, called the "Polio-Physio Polio" in the hall of the new Georgia Hall.

Major General Edward L. King, commander of the fourth corps area, called on the president today. General King was accompanied by his aide, Lieutenant Joseph K. Baker, and Lieutenant Colonel Ralph R. Glass.

After leaving the Little White House the officers said the president showed special interest in the work of the civilian conservation corps as well as the army in the area. They presented him a number of pictures of C. C. C. camps.

Vidal, who was accompanied by Major J. C. Cone and Fred Roper, of the commerce department aeronautics executive staff, presented a three-year program for the construction of commercial planes.

Mr. Roosevelt took the proposal under advisement without comment and Vidal refused to disclose details. It was said the president talked today with acting Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau about the choice of an administrator of the liquor code but that no decision had been reached.

2,000,000 TO BE GIVEN
JOBS DURING WEEK
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Out of the broad-fronted endeavor to put men to work and boost buying power, there came a prediction today from Harry L. Hopkins, director of the civil works administration, that two million men who were receiving relief on November 16 would be at work before the end of this week.

He said one million men and women had been transferred from relief rolls to pay rolls during the last 10 days.

"The objective of the civil works administrations," he said, "is the employment of four million persons by December 15."

Hopkins said the $400,000,000 allotted to the civil works organization by the public works administration would last until about the middle of next February and that "whether the jobs go on after that time, will depend upon the action of congress."

During the day the administration assigned 6,562 men to seal 21,400 abandoned coal mines in the Ohio river basin to protect public water supplies.

Elopement of 'Buster' Mott Follows Football Romance

Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. "Buster" Mott, whose elopement became known Tuesday, are shown above at one of the many university dances they attended together.

After a few days of receiving congratulations from numerous friends, Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Mott—the husband, better known as "Buster"—will leave for Hartford, Conn., where he will take up his new duties with the Coca-Cola Company, according to announcement Tuesday night, following the news that the couple were married Sunday night in Cedar town.

Mrs. Mott, the former Miss Zella Webb, of Atlanta, and Mr. Mott, former star halfback of the University of Georgia football team, were married by Justice of the Peace L. H. Smith, in Cedar town, and will reside temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. G. Cleve Webb, parents of the bride, at their residence at 1235 Albemarle avenue. Harold Hirsch Jr., son of a prominent Atlanta attorney, served as best man at the wedding.

Romance of the young couple began several years ago when "Buster" was a star halfback for the Tech High football team. Mott entered the University of Georgia in 1929 and in 1930, 1931 and 1932 played varsity football. He was an outstanding conference back and won particular notoriety for long runs in several important games.

In addition to his stellar work on the football field, Mott also won honors on the Bulldog baseball team where he was a star outfielder, winning All-Southern honors. After his graduation from the university he took up professional baseball and this fall entered the pro football ranks. His latter career was interrupted when he received a broken ankle.

Mrs. Webb followed her husband through his football career as a spectator and has seen a majority of the games in which he played and starred. They will leave within the next few days for Hartford.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Liquor distillers today came under a code setting up federal control of their industry while brewers won government consent for unlimited plant capacity and production.

Harris E. Willingham, head of the alcoholic beverage section of the farm administration, is slated to be a member, and Dr. James M. Doyan, commissioner of industrial alcohol, was mentioned as director.
